BREAKFAST FRUIT.

The Best Said to Be Oranges, Grapes and Fresh Olives.

Of all breakfast fruits the orange is deservedly the most popular. It is a food that is distinctly health giving. Orange juice aids greatly in reducing the amount of putrefaction found in the intestines of nearly all persons who are submitted to clinical laboratory tests.

Grapes are another fruit that should always be eaten freely when obtainable. Apples are preferably eaten before retiring, and two are about twice as good as one. The apple habit, persisted in, often works rather surprising results with persons who are naturally listless. Lemons can hardly be eaten as a fruit, but lemonade is a valuable beverage. When used as a laxative fresh figs should form the dessert. When not obtainable the dried figs form a good substitute.

Of the value of bananas there seems some reasonable doubt. Many persons complain that they find them indigestible. They are quite likely to reach this conclusion if the banana be eaten frequently as the needless complement of an already hearty meal. On the other hand, there can be no doubt that the growing popularity of the fresh olive is fully deserved. It surely ranks with the orange and the grape and is, of course, much ahead of either in cases of sluggish intestines or constitutional thinness.—H. Irving Hancock in Good Housekeeping.

TOO COMPLICATED.

The Reason We Say "You" Instead of Using "Thou."

The reason commonly given for the substitution of the second person plural for the second person singular, "you" instead of "thou"—that it originated as a fad of courtesy—may explain its origin, but its universal adoption is due to a deeper reason—namely, that the second person singular of the verb is a complicated and difficult form, while the second person plural is simple to the last degree.

With every principal verb in the language and with every auxiliary except "must" the pronoun "thou" requires a special change in the form of the verb, which is often the only break in an otherwise uniform series. Thus in the present tense of every verb, with the single exception of the verb "be," the pronoun "you" employs the unchanged root form of the verb, as "you love, have, can do, shall, will," etc., while "thou" requires a change of form, as "thou lovest, hast, canst, dost, shalt, wilt," etc.

In every such choice the unchanged root form has always the right of way. Thus "you" has become everywhere current in the busy activities of life, while "thou" is carefully laid up in the museum of antiquity or the shrine of religion.—James C. Fernald in Harper's Magazine.

Making Sure of the Architect.

Norman-Al-Oouar, an Arabian king who reigned long, long ago at Hirah, commanded the architect Sennemar to build him a wondrous palace. This the architect did and when it was done a single stone fastened the whole structure, and the colors of the walls changed frequently during the day. The king was greatly pleased and showered all kinds of rich gifts upon the builder with the lavishness of oriental kings. But monarchs were treacherous in those old days, and it occurred to the king that Sennemar might build a palace equal in beauty or even superior for some rival ruler. The more he thought over it the more jealous he became until one day he ordered the architect to be thrown from the top of the palace to make certain that no duplicate palace would be made. After this the king was satisfied that his palace was the only one, and the Arabians regarded it as one of the wonders of the world.

As Good as He Sent.

At a recent meeting of the directors of an eastern railroad a prominent railroad man repeated a story that he just had from a conductor on one of the limited expresses between New York and the west.

It seems that a dapper chap in the first chair car had managed to become unusually friendly with an attractive young woman in an adjoining seat. When the train pulled into Buffalo the masher, in taking leave of the lass, remarked:

"Do you know, I must thank you for an awf'lly, awf'lly pleasant time, but I'm afraid you would not have been so nice to me had you known that I was a married man."

"Oh, as to that," quickly and pleasantly responded the charming young woman, "you haven't the least advantage of me. I am an escaped lunatic."—Exchange.

Fast and Slow.

The Father—I learn with sorrow, my son, that you are getting to be what they term quite fast. The Son—You shouldn't believe all you hear, dad. I'll introduce you to a man who will tell you another story. The Father—And who is he? The Son—My tailor. He says I'm the slowest chap he's got on his books.

Childhood's Unfailing Joy.

As long as there are children in the world the golden and objectless occupation of make believe will go on; the pursuit of delight itself, untrammeled by rules or purpose. — Eton College Chronicle.

Actions Speak Louder Than Words.

The Sunday school class was singing "I Want to Be an Angel." "Why don't you sing louder, Bobby?"

"I'm singing as loud as I feel," explained Bobby.—Delineator.

THE SANCI DIAMOND.

Its Course Since the Time Queen Elizabeth Bought It.

Elizabeth of England purchased the famous Sanci diamond when De Sanci, extravagant and splendid, was low in purse. When Charles became king and sent Buckingham to Paris to bring back his bride, Henrietta, the messenger wore the Sanci. Charles quarreled with his queen, Henrietta, and with his parliament, and not long afterward Cromwell asked for his head. Henrietta gave the diamond to the Earl of Worcester. Worcester probably gave it back to the Stuarts, for whom he ruined himself, for it descended to James II. James' disastrous reign cost him the crown, but he kept the Sanci. That and other jewels which he took away with him supported various Stuart pretenders. This particular one was sold to Louis XIV. of France for $125,000.

Stolen with other jewels in 1792, the Sanci disappeared for thirty-six years. A jeweler came by it, and Prince Demidoff purchased it for his wife. Twenty years later she let it go to Jamsetjee Jeejeeboy, a rich merchant of Bombay. Again it appeared at a Paris jeweler's shop and was sold to the maharajah of Puttilala. He, too, came upon hard times. It was from a London jeweler that William Waldorf Astor bought it for his son's bride.—Franklin Clarkin in Everybody's Magazine.

THE SPIDER.

It Differs From an Insect In Five Main Particulars.

The spider is not an insect, though probably nine people out of ten would class it under this term. With scorpions and mites spiders form a class in the animal kingdom known as arachnida. This name is derived from a mythical personage called Arachne, the daughter of a purple dyer of Lydia, who was fabled to have challenged Minerva to a trial of skill in spinning. So indignant was the goddess at this act of boldness that she forthwith transformed the hapless challenger into a spider, presumably in order that she might have the best possible opportunity of practicing the art on which she prided herself so much.

Spiders differ from insects in five main particulars. Their eyes are simple instead of compound, they have eight legs in place of six, they do not pass through the metamorphoses which are characteristic of insects, they have no antennae and their breathing is accomplished by means of organs which combine the functions of lungs and gills instead of by tubes pervading their bodies. These points of distinction are sufficient to determine the fact that it is impossible to class spiders as insects.

The "Picket."

The picket was generally inflicted on cavalry and artillery men and was a singularly brutal bit of torture. A long post, near which stood a stool, was driven into the ground. The delinquent was ordered to mount the stool, and his right hand was fastened to a hook in the post by a noose, drawn up as high as it could be stretched, round his wrist. A stump the height of the stool, with its end cut to a round and blunt point, was also driven into the earth close to the post. Then the stool was taken away, and the sufferer had nothing to rest his bare feet upon but the stump, "which, though it did not usually break the skin," says Captain Grose, "put him in great torture, his only means of relief being by resting his weight on his wrist, the pain of which soon became intolerable." One can very well believe him, especially when he makes the addition that a man was not infrequently left to stand in this position for half an hour, although the orthodox period of endurance was fifteen minutes. — London Graphic.

Seizing the Opportunity.

Doctor—You have no reason to believe, madam, that your husband shot himself intentionally?

Madam—Oh, dear, no! It was purely accidental. But is he seriously hurt?

Doctor—Quite seriously, but I think we can save him.

Madam—What are you going to do now with all those horrid surgical instruments?

Doctor—We are going to probe for the bullet.

Madam—Yes? Well, doctor, while you are about it won't you be good enough to see if you can't find a gold collar button I lent him last week and that he carelessly swallowed?

Athletic Exercises.

Flattered Restaurant Keeper—I'm glad to hear, sir, that you've been growing so strong since you began coming to my restaurant. Fullett—Well, it's a fact. You see, my habits are sedentary, and I can't afford to enter a gymnasium. Yes, sir, your steaks and roast fowls are making a new man of me.

No Difference.

Miss Wayuppe—It was my good fortune that my ancestors came over in the Mayflower. Miss Newrich—May flour! Why, my folks made their fortune in September wheat.—St. Louis Times.

Sarcastic.

"There's just one thing I wanted to say to you," began Mrs. Acid to her husband.

"Only one, M'ria?" queried he solicitously. "Aren't you feeling well?"

Spermaceti added to boiled starch gives the goods a gloss. Borax makes the starch stiffer.

THE FIRST CHOICE.

It Was Right, Too, Because the Bravest Are the Tenderest.

Some years ago the excursion steamer returning from Alaska to Seattle dislocated its propeller in a dreary portion of the inner passage and came to a forced stop. For two days the vessel's engineers and machinists labored to repair the break, but without success. Two of the boats were manned and dispatched for aid to Victoria, 300 miles away. In the meantime it was discovered that the ship's stores were not abundant. Alarm bred in the minds of pessimistic passengers, and the contagion spread. Starvation might assail the vessel before help arrived.

A former California official took it on himself to reassure his timid companions, but his effort was not perfectly adapted to raise drooping spirits. In fact, his closing sentences but added to the gloom. "Let us be brave," he said. "If the worst comes and that dread necessity which in such misadventures has met others must be faced by us, let us remember that it is good to die that our friends may live. The one or more that may be sacrificed will be consoled by that thought."

There was a moment's silence, awful in its intensity, then a cheerful voice was heard. "You should be taken first, Governor Booth. You know the bravest are the tenderest." And even the terror stricken smiled once more.—San Francisco Argonaut.

TAPA CLOTH.

Attire of the Native Hawaiians Before Civilization Arrived.

The "paper mulberry" tree (Broussonetia papyrifera) is the source of the famous "tapa cloth" of the Polynesian islands. This is a natural tissue and is derived from the inner bark and after being torn off in strips is scraped with shells and beaten with a mallet until it resembles a soft, flexible paper. The individual strips are united by overlapping the edges and beating the fibers together until large pieces of the tissue are formed.

It is said that before Hawaii was swept with the wave of civilization men and women were dressed in this natural bark cloth "tapa" or "kapa." The dress of the women consists of the "pa-u," or wrapper, composed of five thicknesses of tapa, about four yards in length by three in width, passed several times around the waist and extending below the knee. The dress of the men was the "malo," or girdle, about a foot in width and several yards long. A "kikel," or mantle, six feet square, was sometimes worn by both sexes. In former years these natural cloths were sometimes bleached to snowy whiteness or were dyed in colors and even printed or ornamented usually in checks or squares.—Exchange.

A Practical Demonstration.

"The best way to study nature is to go right to it."

"I suppose so."

"Oh, I know it. I was once disposed to doubt the industry of the ant, of which so much is said."

"And you learned better?"

"I did. I had a controversy with a naturalist over the question, and I thought I had him beaten until he gave me a demonstration."

"Took you out and showed you the ants at work, did he?"

"Well, not exactly that, but he took me along on one of his scientific expeditions and then maliciously pitched my tent over an ant hill. By the time I discovered what was happening the conviction was forced upon me that ants are really and truly industrious. They are small, but they made me move, and some of them went right along with us to the next camping place."—New York Times.

Under Examination.

"Do you know the prisoner well?" asked the attorney.

"Never knew him ill," replied the witness.

"Did you ever see the prisoner at the bar?"

"Took many a drink with him," was the reply.

"How long have you known this man?"

"From two feet up to five feet ten."

"Stand down," yelled the lawyer in disgust.

"Can't do it," said he. "I'll sit down or stand up."

"Officer, remove that man." And he did.

An Athletic Game.

The cobbler's shop in a small village was filled with old men and a young man, the young man being a good football player. Naturally the conversation drifted to the game of football.

The young man turned to one of the old men and asked him if he had ever played the game. The veteran thoughtfully blew a cloud of tobacco smoke from his lips and replied:

"Nay, lad. I've never played at none o' them athletic games 'cept dominos."—London Mail.

Her Qualification.

Father—Now, look here, you girls—when you grow up one of you must be able to speak French and the other German. Brenda—All right, dad, and Muriel had better learn German, because she can gargle best.—Punch.

Assuring.

Have courage, count. Father won't hurt you! Why, he told me only yesterday that if he had to pay so much for you he certainly wouldn't do anything to damage you.—Life.

Equality may be all right, but no human power can convert it into a fact.—Balzac.

Resurrection of Political Dry Bones.

There was a grand reunion at the Hotel Metropole, Oakland, Monday of ex-office holders and other has-beens who have long since outlived their usefulness and been relegated to the political rubbish heap. They came together under the misnomer of the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican League and the object of the reunion of these dead ones was for a political pow-wow. Ex-Governor Pardee, Rolla G. Watt, W. R. Davis and numerous other "reformers" were there. In fact it was a representative body of ex-office holders and political hacks whom Denis Kearney, the sand-lot leader, would have designated in his uncouth and untutored way a "gathering of honorable bilks."

As usual with political has-beens with a yearning to have another whack at the offices these Lincoln-Roosevelteers, who ought to be ashamed of themselves for screening themselves behind the martyred President and the hero of San Juan Hill, nearly hollered their heads off in denouncing the Southern Pacific Company's political machine, which is really a creation of designing politicians who have lost their hold upon the people and raise the cry of "railroad," "soulless corporation" and a lot of other drivel in the hopes of being restored to political favor at the hands of a gullible people. This, however, is an ancient and played-out political dodge, but it was about the only cry this gathering of disappointed and disgruntled insurgents could raise to screen their real purpose for disrupting and defeating the Republican party of California in the Gubernatorial campaign next fall.

Governor Gillett, who has made the best executive this State has ever had, was unjustly denounced by the leading speakers of this political gathering of insurgents, and one of these came out boldly in open meeting and declared that any member of the League who was suspected of supporting the Governor for renomination would be thrown out by that body.

Before adjourning this body of malcontents decided to organize and line up for one big fight at the primaries next campaign, determined to rule the Republican party organization of California or ruin it. Why? Because its leaders having had a taste of the offices are hungry for them still.

The Sewer Problem And the City Council.

At the regular monthly meeting of the City Trustees next Wednesday evening one of the matters that will come up for discussion will be the Sewer Question. This is one of the most important questions that has ever engaged the attention of this or any previous City Council, and we trust that every individual member will co-operate with Mayor Breitenbach in his commendable effort to solve this sewer problem, to the end that our taxpayers do their share toward preserving the health of the town and not leave this important matter entirely in the hands of a dispensing Providence, which so far has been kind to a people who have done little in the past toward warding off epidemics and preserving the general health of the town.

Sonoma is growing fast and this being the case the necessity of a sewer system with a tide-water outlet is becoming apparant to all thoughtful citizens, with the result that public sentiment has virtually crystallized into a demand for the improvement, which is known to be topographically practical. The only question to be solved is the abil- of our taxpayers to finance the project. This of course cannot be determined without a preliminary survey by a competent engineer. When this is fortheoming we can speak more intelligently on this phase of the question.

One of the healthy signs in connection with the solution of the sewer problem is the fact that the several big merchants of the town who resisted and refused to pay the license tax imposed upon them last year by the Trustees for needed public improvements are actually out and out in favor of a tide-water system of sewerage, assuming, of course, that they are sincere in their expressions, which we have no reason to doubt at this time. But then, don't you know, Sonoma has always been a funny town.

Mr. Hearst says he is glad he was defeated. That seems to make it unanimous.—Topeka Capital.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe Easy to take as candy.

The successful bidder and grantee of said franchise, right, privilege and permission, his heirs and assigns, must, during the life of said franchise, pay to said County of Sonoma two (2) per cent of the gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation and possession of said franchise; provided, however, that no percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of said franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be payable annually, and in the event that said payment is not made, said franchise shall be forfeited. At the end of the sixth year from the date of granting of said franchise, and at the end of each year thereafter the person, firm or corporation then owning or holding said franchise must make and file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of said county a sworn statement of the gross receipts arising from the use, operation and possession of said franchise for the year then ending, and if a corporation then owns the franchise, the Secretary of such corporation is hereby designated as the officer who shall make such sworn statement on behalf of such corporation.

That it is proposed to grant said franchise, right, privilege and permission in accordance with the terms of an ordinance marked "Exhibit A" and made a part of the resolution authorizing the sale of the said franchise, and directing notice thereof to be given by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, adopted on the 6th day of November, 1909, and now on file with the Clerk of said Board, to which resolution and order reference is hereby made for further particulars

That said bids are to be opened on the

on said day, and that then and there said franchise will be struck off, sold and awarded to the person, firm or corporation who shall make the highest cash bid therefor; provided only that at the time of opening of said bids, any responsible person, firm or corporation present or represented may bid for said franchise or privilege, a sum not not less than ten (10) per cent above the highest sealed bid therefor, and said bid so made may be raised not less than ten (10) per cent by any other responsible bidder, and said bidding may so continue until finally said franchise shall be struck off, sold and awarded by said Board of Supervisors to the highest bidder therefor in gold coin of the United States. Each sealed bid shall be accompanied with cash or a certified check payable to the Treasurer of said County of Sonoma for the full amount of said bid, and no sealed bid shall be considered unless such cash or check is enclosed therewith, and the successful bidder shall deposit at least ten (10) per cent of the amount of his bid with the Clerk of said county before the franchise shall be struck off to him. And, if he shall fail to make such deposit immediately, then and in that case his bid shall not be received and shall be considered as void, and the said franchise shall then and there be again offered for sale to the bidder who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, subject to the same conditions as to deposit as above mentioned. Said procedure shall be had until said franchise is struck off, sold and awarded to a bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten (10) per cent of the amount of his bid therefor, as herein provided. Said successful bidder shall deposit with the Clerk of the said County of Sonoma within twenty-four hours of the acceptance of his bid, the remaining ninety (90) per cent of the amount thereof, and in case he or it should fail to do so, then the said deposit theretofore made shall be forfeited, and the award of said franchise shall be void and the said franchise shall then and there by said governing Board be again offered for sale to the highest bidder therefor, in the same manner and under the same restrictions, as hereinbefore provided, and in case said bidder shall fail to deposit with the Clerk of said county the remaining ninety [90] per cent of his bid within twenty-four hours after its acceptance, the award to him of said franchise will be set aside, and the deposit theretofore made by him shall be forfeited, and no further proceedings for a sale of said franchise shall be had, unless the same shall be re-advertised, and again offered for sale in the manner hereinbefore provided.

The successful bidder for said franchise and privilege must within five [5] days after such franchise is awarded to him, file a bond running to said County of Sonoma, with at least two good and sufficient sureties to be approved by said Board of Supervisors, in the penal sum of One Thousand Dollars [$1,000.00], conditioned that such bidder shall well and truly observe, fulfill and perform each and every term and condition of such franchise, and that in case of any breach of condition of such bond, the whole amount of said penal sum shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages, and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties upon said bond. That upon the filing and approval of said bond, the said franchise shall by said Board of Supervisors be granted by ordinance to the person, firm or corporation to whom it has been struck off, sold or awarded, and in case that said bond shall not be so filed, the award of said franchise shall be set aside, and any money paid therefor shall be forfeited, and said franchise shall, in the discretion of said Board of Supervisors be readvertised and again offered for sale in the same manner and under the same restrictions as hereinbefore provided.

This notice is given and published in pursuance of a resolution and order of the said Board of Supervisors of said County of Sonoma, authorizing the same, adopted at a regular meeting of said Board, held on the 6th day of November, 1909.

Dated November 8, 1909.

County Clerk of the County of Sonoma, State of California, and ex-officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors.

THE SEQUEL TO A RECENT ELOPEMENT

Fifteen-Year-Old Child Becomes a Thanksgiving Day Bride of Guiseppe Pera.

Several months ago Miss Lena Benvenisti, a fifteen-year-old girl of this city, eloped with a young fellow of twenty-three named Guiseppe Pera, a comparatively new comer here.

When the flight of the couple became known to the child's parents immediate steps were taken to locate them. For a long time their whereabouts could not be ascertained but following a clew obtained last week Deputy Sheriff Ryan traced the runaways to Lodi, San Joaquin county, where they had gone to housekeeping.

Armed with a warrant for the arrest of the young fellow the officer went to Lodi last Sunday and took him as well as the girl into custody and arrived here with his charges Monday. The young chap was locked up in jail while the girl was returned to the paternal roof.

The following day, however, the parents, having regained possession of their child, repented of their action and gave their consent to her marrying Pera. The latter preferring a dove cote to the grim bare walls of a prison was only too willing to wed the girl, which he had been unable to do without the consent of "ma" and "pa."

Pera was then released from custody and on Wednesday the young folks took a train for Santa Rosa, where they procured a marriage license and were subsequently married.

Pera and his child bride left for their future home in Lodi on the Southern Pacific Thanksgiving morning.

Pet Dog Disappears

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Newman of San Francisco are mourning the loss of a pet cocker spaniel puppy, which mysteriously disappeared from the porch of Boyes' Hot Springs Hotel last Saturday morning. The owner's are at a loss to know whether the dog strayed away or was stolen. However that may be, they offer a reward elsewhere in these columns for the recovery of the pup, a description of which will be found in the advertisement.

As a recent Act of the Legislature makes dog-stealing a penitentiary offense it is hardly possible that the animal has been purloined, but has possibly strayed off and been picked up by some one who is caring for it. In any event Mr. and Mrs. Newman have notified Sheriff Smith of their loss as they are very anxious to recover their pet.

The Rowland Case.

The appeal in the case of the People vs. Ed. S. Rowland, the defaulting cashier of the Bank of Healdsburg, who was convicted in the Superior Court of this county, has been handed down by the Appellate Court. Rowland loses, as the higher court concurs in the decision of Superior Judge Emmet Seawell in every particular.

The defendant was sentenced by Judge Seawell to serve six years in the penitentiary. His attorney, Thos. J. Geary, will now appeal to the Supreme Court. Since his conviction several months ago Rowland has been confined in the County Jail at Santa Rosa.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a costitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Up Against It.

C. W. Lumsden, a young man of Petaluma who had got married on a munificent salary of $12 per week, is now being sued for divorce. Judge Seawell, pending a decision in the proceedings, ordered Lumsden, who is employed in a shoe factory, to pay his wife $50 attorney fees, $30 per month alimony and costs amounting to $30, or go to jail. He has been allowed two weeks in which to figure out how he can do this on a salary of $12 per week.

MASQUERADE BALL A GRAND SUCCESS

Seventy-Five Couple Participate in the Grand March.

The Sonoma Driving Club, which has long been noted for its many successful race meets here, took a new departure Wednesday evening by giving a grand masquerade ball in Union Hall. It was the first attempt of the club members to give a social function of this nature, but they more than made good.

Seventy-five couple participated in the grand march, which was witnessed by a large number of spectators, who lined the seats on the four sides of the large hall. The gathering astonished everybody as the night was a stormy one, but this did not deter a big turn out of the party-going people of Sonoma and vicinity, but did prevent the attendance of many from abroad. The crowd present was so large, however, that these were scarcely missed.

Taking it all in all the affair was pronounced one of the most successful masquerades ever held in this place. The costumes worn by the ladies in many instances were beautiful while others were comical in the extreme. There were darkies, dudes, tramps, clowns, cowboys, princes, waiters, devils, ghosts and dominoes galore, and it was a merry gathering which did not disperse until the small hours of Thanksgiving morning.

Space forbids a full description of the characters sustained and they were so numerous that it would not be fair to mention the few without mentioning the many.

The floor was under the management of Messrs. Jep. Valente and August Marcy, while the music was furnished by the Pauli-Johnson orchestra.

A neat sum of money was realized by the members of the driving club, which will be devoted to their next race meet the coming year.

The Rain Followed by Beautiful Weather.

The rain storm which set in during the early portion of the week and continued almost without cessation until Thursday morning, was followed by an invigorating breeze and clear sunshiny weather. So far this season there has been an abundance of both rain and sunshine and foggy and frosty mornings have been few and far between. The result has been, much ground has been plowed and seeded, early sown grain has got a good start and pasture for stock was never known to be better in this valley at this season of the year. Surely, the farmer and stockman will have no kick coming against the clerk of the weather for the harvest of 1910 will surely be a bounteous one.

Sonoma Valley Shoe Store.

Mr. Chas. La Torres has announced that he will open up an up-to-date general shoe store in the Dal Poggetto building on Napa street. He will carry a high quality of ladies', mens' and children's shoes, which he will sell at a very small profit, as he believes in quick sales and small profits. Mr. La Torres who will open his store on Wednesday, December 1st, invites the general public to inspect his goods and compare prices and quality with the goods of other dealers. He will guarantee his goods as represented and if in any case they should prove unsatisfactory Mr. La Torres will cheerfully exchange or refund the money.

Being an expert at his trade, Mr. La Torres will also make high-class reparing a specialty. He needs no recommendation as he is well-known here, where he was in business several years. Watch for his ad in next week's issue.

CLEVER CAPTURE OF A HORSE THIEF

Deputy Sheriff Ryan Runs Down and Lands in Jail Another Offender.

A valuable horse was stolen from the Foster ranch near Lakeville last Tuesday night. The animal was taken out of a stall in the barn by the thief during the heavy storm prevailing at the time. Deputy Sheriff Ryan was notified as soon as possible after the disappearance of the animal had been discovered early Wednesday morning and was soon hot on the trail of the thief.

He tracked the culprit from the barn on the Foster ranch to the Bolla farm, where he discovered he had stolen a saddle. This he had thrown on the animal's back and remounting took to the foothills south of Lakeville, and was captured about four miles from that place by the vigilant officer, whom he could not shake off the scent.

The culprit, who is a young fellow about 21 years of age and a stranger in this section of the county, gave his name as Emile Dangalo.

Shortly after leaving the Bolla ranch and in the darkness of a stormy night the man ran the stolen animal into a barbed wire fence and one of its legs was frightfully cut. Dismounting the man had pulled off his coat and tearing out the lining of the garment used it as a bandage to stop the flow of blood which was spurting from the animal's wounded leg and leaving a red trail behind.

Realizing that this would lead to his capture he dismounted and abandoning the animal took to his heels and after covering a distance of several miles went into hiding. In the meantime officer Ryan was keen on the scent of the broad trail which the culprit had left behind him and soon came upon and recovered the stolen horse and shortly after had ran his man down and taken him into custody.

The prisoner was brought to town about 7:30 Wednesday evening and locked up in jail. Yesterday morning officer Ryan took his prisoner to Santa Rosa and lodged him in the county jail on a charge of horse-stealing.

The speedy capture of the thief, the recovery of the stolen animal and the tell-tale coat found upon the back of the culprit minus the lining which was recovered from the wounded horse's leg where it had been bound to stanch the flow of blood is only one of the many clever captures made by Deputy Sheriff Ryan which has earned for him the reputation of being one of the best peace officers in Sonoma county.

Fifteenth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Bates were tendered a surprise party at their home on Broadway Thursday evening by a number of friends and neighbors, the occasion being the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage.

At an early hour in the evening they were completely taken by surprise by thirty of their neighbors and friends who entered their home unnounced and unceremoniously took possession of the same. The jolly party brought with them dainty edibles and feasting and a merry good time followed the advent of the invaders. Early in the evening the host and hostess were presented with a beautiful cut-glass berry bowl by those present as an appreciation of their friendship and esteem.

Ex-Supervisor Button Must Face a Jury.

Judge Seawell on Monday last overruled the demurrer of ex-Supervisor J. J. Button and he must now stand trial for alleged misconduct in office.

Judge Seawell continued the case to January 3, 1910, at which time the case will be set for trial.

The accused official in the meantime will be at liberty on a bail bond of $2500 furnished by his friends.

The Doctor's First Question

"How are your bowels?" This is generally the first question the doctor asks. He knows what a sluggish liver means. He knows what a long list of distressing complaints result from constipation. He knows that headaches, bilious attacks, indigestion, impure blood, and general debility are often promptly relieved by a good liver pill. We wish you would talk with your own doctor about this subject. Ask him at the same time if he approves of Ayer's Pills. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE CASSOWARY.

A Peculiar Bird That Fishes With Its Feathers.

Habits of the cormorant and of the fish hawk are generally known. Their methods of taking fish are very much like those of birds of prey. But the cassowary fishes according to a method of its own. A well known naturalist witnessed its operations on a river in the island of New Britain.

He saw a cassowary come down to the water's edge and stand for some minutes apparently watching the water carefully. It then stepped into the river where it was about three feet deep and, partially squatting down, spread its wings out, submerging them, the feathers being spread and ruffled.

The bird remained motionless and kept its eyes closed as if in sleep. It remained in this position for a quarter of an hour, when, suddenly closing its wings and straightening its feathers, it stepped out on the bank. Here it shook itself several times, whereupon a quantity of small fishes fell out of its wings and from amid its feathers. These the bird immediately picked up and swallowed.

The fishes had evidently mistaken the feathers for a kind of weed that grows in the water along the banks of the rivers in this island and which much resembles the feathers of the cassowary. The smaller fishes hide in these weeds to avoid the larger ones that prey on them.—Exchange.

THE MOON.

Its Visual Size No Greater When It Is High Than When It Is Low.

The artist has to choose between scientific truth and "convention" when he sets out to paint the moon. A threepenny piece fixed at a distance of six feet from the eye (say at the end of a horizontal six foot pole, the other end of which is made to press the lower edge of the eye socket) will just cover the disk of either the sun or the moon hanging in the sky. It is an absolute fact that this is true whether the moon (or the sun) be high in the sky or low down near the horizon.

The real "visual size" of the moon's disk is no greater when it is low than when it is high. No one who reads what I have just written will believe me. Every one thinks that he knows that the disk of the harvest moon or of the setting sun occupies a larger space in the sky when low than when high. This is due to a judgment or mental process and is an erroneous one. The eye is not at fault, but the curiously untrustworthy mind is.

What, then, is the painter to do? He yields to prejudice and often paints the low moon or low sun of a size which compared with scientific fact is ridiculously exaggerated.—Sir E. Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

Her Choice.

They were sisters-in-law and reasonably well disposed toward each other. One was the mother of George, aged six months, and the other was the mother of Marian, aged six months and four days. It was impossible that a slight parental rivalry should be altogether concealed.

"Marian does not seem to grow very fast," said the mother of George, with a suggestion of commiseration in her tones. "George is much taller"—(height being measured in inches).

"Perhaps he is," replied the mother of Marian coldly, "but Marian weighs more."

"Oh, well," responded the sister-in-law, with a smile of high bred superiority, "of course I should not wish George to be gross."—Exchange.

A Frank Estimate.

To many persons who are not actors the stage seems a delightful and fascinating place. In a book called "The Actress" Louise Closser Hale, herself an actress, tells some of her experiences with girls who envy her her profession. One day one of them from behind a counter in a shop said, "I should have went on the stage."

"She evidently wanted to talk, and I strove to be interested," says Miss Hale.

"But see how tired I am," I said to her. "I have to work very hard as it is, and I had to work much harder to gain what little recognition I have had."

"Oh, yes," she responded, complacently gazing at herself in a mirror. "But, you see, I have talent."

Dangers of Handwriting.

A young man is bringing an action against a graphologist in Paris for substantial damages. A pretty heiress, to whom he was engaged to be married, showed a specimen of his handwriting to the graphologist and asked for information. This is the reply she got: "If you should meet the man who wrote these lines upon your way through life avoid him. He is an egotist and a fool, has a bad temper and a despicable nature. The existence of the woman who has the misfortune to marry him will be a Calvary." The marriage has been broken off; hence the action.

Her Usual Remark.

"What did Mame say when her father gave her that new gold watch?" asked one gladsome girl.

"Oh, the some thing that she always says. She remarked that she was having a perfectly lovely time." — Exchange.

A Safe Proposition.

I lay it down as a safe proposition that the fellow who every little while has to break into the baby's bank for car fare isn't going to evolve into a Baron Rothschild.—Philip D. Armour.

Oblivion.

Oblivion is the dark page whereon memory writes her light beam characters and makes them legible. Were it all light nothing could be read there any more than if it were all darkness.

It is too late to throw water on the cinders when the house is burned down. —Danish Proverb.

The Way of the World.

"When we were poor," remarked the prosperous man reflectively, "we looked forward to the time when we could have a summer home."

"Well?"

"Well, when we got rich enough to have one we didn't like going to the same place every summer because it was monotonous, and we looked forward to the time when we could have another for variety."

"Well?"

"Well, we got another, and then we began to long for a winter place, so that we wouldn't have to be so much in the big house in the city."

"Well?"

"Well, we've got them all now."

"And are you happy?"

"I suppose so—at least, I suppose my wife is. She keeps them all shut up and spends most of her time in Europe, but she knows she has them."—Chicago Post.
